

Christine D. Brooks, Ph.D.

Human Resources, Education, Workforce Development
Consultant

DR. CHRISTINE D. BROOKS is president of her own global human resources, education and workforce development firm located in the District of Columbia where she specializes in accreditation facilitation of career education and other postsecondary programs. Her expertise is that of assuring that career education programs are actually providing training which assists persons in gainful employment.

Her other public policy work history includes positions in the Senior Executive Service in the Federal Government; in the State of Florida and with the Government of the District of Columbia.

She has served as a Member of the Board of Visitors (Trustees) of the Virginia State University, Petersburg, VA; in the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Employment Standards for the U. S. Department of labor; and served as the first Director of the Faith-Based and Community Initiatives Center in the U. S. Department of Education.

TEACHING AND UNIVERSITY POSITIONS have included: High School teacher in Sanford and in High Point, North Carolina; Associate Professor and Chairperson of Business Education, Fayetteville State University, Fayetteville, NC; and Assistant Professor of Business and Department Chair at Florida A & M University, Tallahassee, FL.

Dr. Brooks' EDUCATIONAL BACKGROUND includes a Ph.D. at Florida State University, Tallahassee; M. A. Teachers College, Columbia University, New York; and a B.S. Degree at North Carolina Central University, Durham, NC.

Dr. Brooks volunteers and is active in service to several veterans and Returning Citizens organizations in the District of Columbia and is an adviser to a self-help program for single mothers and their children who aspire to self-sufficiency.

In her spare time, Christine Brooks enjoys interior decorating, collecting antique furniture and paintings, gourmet cooking, music, gardening and traveling. Recent travel has taken her to South Africa, and she is interested in pursuing an opportunity to do a teaching assignment in the Cape Town area in the near future.
